

July 21st 2017

ADVISORY

It is reported that Physalia Utriculus, also called as Blue Bottle or (Indo-Pacific) Portuguese Man-of-War live jelly fish are stranded on the beach stretches from Sinqerim to Baga. They are very venomous and can cause extremely painful sting which could result in allergic reaction to severe hyper allergic reactions.

Public/Tourists are requested to be cautious and not to swim or come in physical contact with the live or dead jelly fish that have been washed ashore close to Baga – Sinqerim beach stretch.

Inspite of precaution, in case if they feel painful sting, while at the above beach stretches then they are advised to take medical treatment at nearest Health Centre.

sd/-
(Menino D'Souza)
Director of Tourism